

Group III

A 35 y.o. obese. P0G1 pregnant black female was admitted to L& D complaining of severe headache, nausea and vomiting of 3 days duration. She had missed her last 3 clinic appts. At her last appt. the doctor told her that she had "a bit of hi BP" and gave her a prescription which she did not have filled. She is at 35 and 5/7 weeks gestation. Her membranes had ruptured yesterday. She had had no contractions.

Physical Examination. A 110 Kg. obviously pregnant and edematous female. BP 180/120 P 90 bpm.

Airway: Mallampati III and a large edematous tongue. Mouth opening 2.5cm.

Chest: Maybe a few crackles in the bases.

Heart: NSR without murmurs.

ABD.: Pregnant abdomen at near xyphoid. Fetus in vtx position. FHR at 130. Tracing revealed no decelerations but decreased variability.

Vaginal: cervix at 2cm and 75%effaced. Station-1.

Pertinent Labs: hgb-11.5, platelets-82,000, fibrinogen-300.

PLAN: Obstetric

Anesthetic